Consider including sample language about Brandeis and Heller:

BRANDEIS UNIVERSITY

Founded in 1948, Brandeis University is a private nonsectarian research university with a liberal arts focus situated 10 miles west of Boston. Its schools include a College and Graduate School of Arts and Sciences, the International Business School and the Heller School for Social Policy and Management, each welcoming students, faculty and staff of every nationality, religion and political orientation. Brandeis has a long history of offering educational opportunities to foreign students since it pioneered the concept of an educational and cultural exchange program in 1958 with the establishment of the Wien Scholarship Program. Brandeis University is accredited by the New England Association of Schools and Colleges, Inc. Commission on Institutions of Higher Education.

THE HELLER SCHOOL FOR SOCIAL POLICY AND MANAGEMENT

Since its founding in 1959, the Heller School at Brandeis University has been committed to developing new knowledge and insights in the field of social policy and in health and human services management. The Heller School is unique in its approach to the field of social policy. Through the graduate education of students, and the pursuit of applied interdisciplinary research and active public engagement in both the public and private sectors, the Heller School is constantly examining policies and programs that respond to the changing needs of vulnerable individuals and social groups in our societies. Over the last fifty years, the Heller School for Social Policy and Management has built an international reputation for professional leadership in many areas across the policy-development spectrum. The entire Heller School facility was recently expanded and renovated and is located near the center of the Brandeis campus adjacent to the main University Library.
Heller Faculty Recruitment and Appointment Procedures:

Step 6: Develop and Approve search budget

- Review by Heller Associate Dean, Academic Personnel and approval by Heller Chief Administrative Officer.

- The budget includes estimate of advertising and applicants’ travel expenses – and may include travel of Search Committee chair/member to Professional Meeting with recruitment opportunities.

- The Search Chair should contact Ron Etlinger (ext 63901; etlinger@brandeis.edu) Chief Administrative Officer, to discuss budgeting guidelines for searches.
Heller Faculty Recruitment and Appointment Procedures:

Step 7: Form a Heller Student Advisory Committee and hold an initial meeting

- The Search Committee works with Heller Student Services as well as relevant Program Directors, Concentration Chairs and Institute Directors to form a Student Advisory Committee, generally with 6-8 members. The responsibilities of this committee include committing to attend all finalist seminars and meetings with finalists on campus and offering feedback on strengths and limitations of candidates both as a committee and individually to the Search Committee.

- The Search Committee Chair should hold an initial meeting with the Student Advisory Committee to discuss their roles and responsibilities.
Step 8: Advertise, network and solicit applicants

- Administrative Coordinator, Heller Search Committee and Heller community. Post job description on Heller website and appropriate job listing sites in print and online as listed in the search plan. If multiple searches, coordinate the advertisements in major outlets (e.g., Chronicle of Higher Education) or websites.

- One key juncture for a search that addresses diversity is a strategic, thought-out, deliberate outreach plan that targets organizations of minority scholars, lists within professional organizations, and personal contacts and networks. Beyond the members of the search committee, others at Heller should be asked to activate those networks through personal contacts.

- Draft advertisements for positions must be approved by the Heller Dean before they are posted.

Heller Faculty Recruitment and Appointment Procedures:

Step 17: Negotiation with top candidate

- If the Dean accepts the recommendation, the Dean negotiates terms of the appointment with the candidate, including faculty rank, other title(s) if relevant, salary, responsibilities, start date, and other items as appropriate.
- If an agreement is reached, the Dean asks the Associate Dean, Academic Personnel to convene a review by the appropriate faculty of the Heller Division in which the candidate will serve.
- Depending on the timing of the appointment, the Dean may issue an appointment letter contingent on approval by the Division and/or the ad hoc. This is likely to be the case for tenure reviews, given the longer time they take.
- The Dean notifies other finalist candidates they were not chosen.
Heller Faculty Recruitment and Appointment Procedures:

Step 18: Division and ad hoc reviews

- The Associate Dean, Academic Personnel convenes a meeting of the faculty of the Heller Division in which the candidate will be assigned at or above the proposed rank of the candidate. The appointment process follows the Brandeis Faculty Handbook, which stipulates different processes for tenure-track and non-tenure-track appointments. Re the Handbook’s terminology, our Divisions are equivalent to Departments, and the Associate Dean, Academic Personnel functions as Chair of each Division.

- For tenure-track appointments see pp. 16-20 of the Handbook. A tenure-track appointment, except at the level of Assistant, will require a more extensive dossier and an ad hoc that includes non-Heller Brandeis members as well as members outside Brandeis.

- For appointments outside the tenure track, see pp. 20-21 of the Handbook. For a summary of the non-tenure Handbook procedures, see “Heller non-tenure appointment procedures October 2014.doc.”
