Are you a pregnant person with a disability who would like support developing an Accessible Pregnancy Action Plan?

Our research team is working to develop a tool, which we call the Accessible Pregnancy Action Plan. This tool would help pregnant people with disabilities think about what they need during pregnancy, during birth, and after having their baby.

We are looking for:

- Pregnant people with disabilities, who are ...
- between 12 and 36 weeks pregnant with their first child, and who ...
- speak English or use ASL to communicate.

Participants will work on their Action Plan with a peer facilitator, who is also a parent with a disability. These meetings will take place over Zoom. There will be between 2 and 4 meetings.

Most participants will complete the intervention in two sessions. They will be paid $50 per session. Participants who complete the program will also be compensated an additional $50.
